General comments about golf and your golf:

Frazer progressed from playing 9 holes often with Dad to getting his handicap when nearly 11 years old. This just happened as Dad is a golf pro and Frazer has always been around the golf club/course in the proshop etc.

His inspiration in doing so sort of just happened, Dad wanted him to play 18 holes one day with him socially and it just went on from there.

Frazer started at the end of 2007 getting his handicap of 32, and by the same time the following year he had halved his handicap to 16 and halved it again to 8 by the same time last year. He is currently off 6.

Frazer likes to play with his cousin Mitchell, as well as the other juniors and members at our club. Frazer also enjoys playing with his new golfing friends that he meets up with at junior events in Melbourne. Frazer's proudest moments are many, however being selected in the Primary Schools State Team, his first par round and his club championship wins come to mind first.
